

A special invitation from the Right Reverend J. Jon Bruno, Episcopal Bishop of Los Angeles and The Reverend Peter Rood of Holy Nativity Episcopal Church

Climate Change: Why the Faith Community Should Care

A new UCLA study predicts that by 2050, temperatures in the L.A. region will rise an average of 4.6 degrees Fahrenheit if greenhouse gas emissions continue to increase at current levels.

Meanwhile, California is at the center of national attention as it implements long-awaited environmental regulations. Come to this workshop and learn what your house of worship can do now to take action for all of Creation.

Presenters include Timothy O'Connor, Director of California Climate Initiative for Environmental Defense Fund, and Daniel Walton, a PhD Candidate at UCLA

Date: Wednesday, December 12

Time: 9:00am - 10:30am

Location: Holy Nativity Episcopal Church
6700 West 83rd Street, Westchester, 90045

Contact: Allis Druffel, (310) 752-3436 or allis@interfaithpower.org

Welcome this holiday season with the gift of stewardship to your neighbors and the Earth. RSVP today!

California Interfaith Power & Light